DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of Group I, claims 1-5, in the reply filed on April 08, 2005 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by USPN 6,640,604 to Matsushita. See the Abstract and the Figure on the Front Page.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USPN 6,640,604 B2 to Matsushita. Matsushita broadly discloses bending of a suspension which supports a magnetic head by using thermal induced bending resulting from linearly scanning a laser beam on surface areas of the suspension. It would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art that the use of either the single or repeated laser scanning and the use of one scan position or of shifting the scan position on the metal plate as disclosed by Matsushita is a description which also represents the instant claimed load adjustment features and angle adjustment features. Matsushita has not described the suspension areas using the labels "area I", "area II", "area III", and "area IV", but the suspension structure is known and the locations which will effect suspension adjustment are easily identifiable. The instant claimed particular hard disk head suspension structure elements are well known in the art.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited art pertains to laser bending of structures.
